Solons scramble to thwart crisis

Intersecting issues

WITH the energy crisis in Mindanao threatening to spill over to Luzon in two weeks, legislators are scrambling to avert a crisis. The House of Representatives is expected to pass a bill to allow the use of alternative energy sources such as solar, wind, geothermal, and biomass to address the crisis. Gaming firm denies fronting for 'jueteng'

By Sharon Brown

A GAMING firm denying its usual practice of paying its employees in cash and in kind, and its alleged role in the "jueteng" racket, has been accused of fronting for the illegal gambling game.

In a statement issued on the website of the Justice Ministry, the firm, which is based in the Philippines, denied the allegations. It said it was not involved in the "jueteng" racket and that it was not a fronting firm.

Traders may convert tax credits to cash

By Dennis P. Siguera

PHILIPPINE Traders may convert tax credits to cash, according to a report by a government agency. The report says that the government is considering a law that will allow traders to convert their tax credits to cash. This would be a significant change, as traders currently have to use their tax credits to offset their tax liabilities.

Consumers bruce for higher electricity bills

Gov't cautioned on Mindanao power rate hike

MANILA, Philippines — Consumers are bracing for higher electricity bills as the government prepares to raise rates in Mindanao. The Department of Energy (DOE) has approved a 10 percent increase in the average electricity rate for Mindanao, effective May 1, 2017. The increase is part of a broader effort to bring electricity rates in line with the national average. However, consumers in Mindanao are concerned that the increase will be too high, especially for low-income households. They are calling for the government to provide subsidies to help them pay their bills. The DOE has said that it will continue to monitor the situation and make adjustments as needed.

By [Name]

Inducted power plants, including Mindanao, are being built to help meet the growing demand for electricity. The government has also been working to improve the efficiency of the power grid. However, the increase in rates is still a concern for many consumers. They are hoping that the government will find a way to keep rates affordable while still covering the costs of the new power plants.

Bishop backs 'zero waste' observance of Holy Week

By Paolo V. Lo
The observance of Holy Week in the Philippines is a time of reflection and prayer. Bishop Genevivo G. Rosendo, of the Roman Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines, has urged Catholics to observe the week with a "zero waste" approach, emphasizing the importance of environmental stewardship and the proper disposal of religious artifacts.
Rosendo, in a statement, said that the Holy Week is a time to reflect on the life and death of Jesus Christ. He encouraged Catholics to observe the week with a "zero waste" approach, meaning that they should avoid unnecessary consumption and waste. He also urged Catholics to properly dispose of religious artifacts, such as candles and flowers, in a respectful manner.
Rosendo said that the "zero waste" approach is not only an environmental concern but also a spiritual one. He said that Catholics should reflect on the life and death of Jesus Christ and the importance of living a life of simplicity and humility. He also urged Catholics to properly dispose of religious artifacts, such as candles and flowers, in a respectful manner.

PNP failure to arrest Palparan Reyes scored

By Paolo V. Lo
The Philippine National Police (PNP) has been criticized for its failure to arrest Palparan Reyes, a prominent figure in the drug trade. Reyes was a powerful drug lord who controlled a large portion of the drug trade in the Philippines. He was known for his ruthless tactics and his ability to evade law enforcement.
Reyes was arrested in 2011, but he was released shortly after. He has since been a target of law enforcement, but he has managed to evade arrest. His failure to be arrested has been a major criticism of the PNP.

Pacman to use Hoya ploy against Bradley

By Jeff Labadie

By Saturday night, Pacman will have won every single one of the seven main-line arguments in the case against Bradley. The only one left is the one that Bradley has been using to win the case: the fact that he is a professional fighter.

Bradley's argument is that he is a professional fighter, and that he has been fighting for many years. He has won many fights, and he has been in the ring for a long time. He is a professional fighter, and he is a professional fighter.

Wave of Tibetans torching selves sets record

By the Associated Press

LHASA, China (AP) — A wave of self-immolations by Tibetans in China's southwestern province of Tibet has set a new record, with at least 100 people torching themselves in the past few weeks, according to local officials.

The latest deaths occurred in the town of Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, where a 35-year-old man set himself on fire in a public square on Monday. He was the 100th person to die in this way since the start of the year, according to local media.

The protests began in 2009, when a 27-year-old monk set himself on fire in front of the Potala Palace, the traditional residence of the Dalai Lama. Since then, the number of self-immolations has risen sharply, with a peak in 2014 when more than 200 people died in this way.

Local officials say the protests are a result of the Chinese government's policies in Tibet, which they say are designed to suppress Tibetan culture and religion. They say the government has built too many monasteries and has forced monks to work in the government or the military.

The protests have also been fueled by the Dalai Lama's calls for Tibet's independence. He has said that the Chinese government is responsible for the suffering of the Tibetan people and that they have the right to self-determination.

The Chinese government has responded by cracking down on the protests. It has arrested many monks and nuns and has closed down many monasteries. It has also banned the Dalai Lama from entering China.

The protests have also drawn international attention. Human rights groups have condemned the Chinese government's actions and have called for an end to the self-immolations.

North Korea party calls leadership meeting

By the Associated Press

Pyongyang (AP) — North Korea's ruling Workers' Party of Korea called a meeting of its Politburo on Monday to discuss the country's economic and political situation.

The meeting was called by the party's general secretary, Kim Jong-il, who has been in power since the death of his father, Kim Il-sung, in 1994. Kim Jong-il is known for his authoritarian rule and for his efforts to develop North Korea's nuclear weapons program.

The meeting was held in a large hall in Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea. It was attended by several high-ranking officials, including the party's vice general secretary, Kim Jong-un, who is the current leader of North Korea.

The meeting was called to discuss the country's economic and political situation. North Korea has been facing severe economic difficulties in recent years, with widespread famine and poverty. The country has also been facing international pressure to stop its nuclear weapons program.

The meeting was also called to discuss the political situation. North Korea has been facing criticism from the international community for its human rights record. The country has been accused of suppressing dissent and of committing human rights abuses.

First Quarter Results Divining the market

By the end of the first quarter, the market had moved from a state of uncertainty to one of relative stability. The main reason for this was the strong performance of the major companies, which had all reported better than expected results. This was particularly true of the technology sector, where several key players had announced significant new contracts and product launches. The market's recovery was also helped by a period of low volatility in the stock prices of the major companies, which allowed investors to build confidence in the market's future prospects.

The 'real' runners turn up for this Cebu run

By Anne de Jesus

THEY ARE THE REAL RUNNERS. They are the ones who show up for the Cebu Marathon, a 42.2-kilometer race that takes place every year in the Philippines. They are the ones who run for fun, for fitness, and for the love of the sport. They are the ones who turn up for this Cebu run.

It's the high-intensity workouts that bring the most fun.

By Sandy Brown

It's not a "New Year's resolution" to get into better shape. It's a lifestyle. It's a way of life. It's a way of thinking. It's a way of feeling. It's a way of being. It's a way of living. It's a way of breathing. It's a way of smiling. It's a way of laughing. It's a way of crying. It's a way of everything.
